NeoCon 2017

LolliPOP!

In anticipation of its 50th anniversary, Nienkämper is re-introducing some iconic designs of the 1960's; LolliPOP tandem seating, designed by Robin Bush, was used extensively in the newly designed modern airports across Canada at that time.

LolliPOP gives a contemporary appearance of classic beam seating. Comfortable and durable, with clean lines and a simple, modern aesthetic that allows for ease of maintenance.

LolliPOP's dominant feature is its generous round seat and back. The distinctive design and upholstery technique allows for a multitude of unique combinations by way of textiles and color. Create playful seating arrangements with a POP of color.

About the designer

Robin Bush was born 1921 Vancouver Canada and died in 1982. He designed extensive seating collections for various companies including Herman Miller that was used in the new airports in Canada.
