

River Snake

Award-winning designer Mac Stopa is known for his bold and innovative designs. His latest release, River Snake, is no exception.

River Snake's modular stool can be used singularly or grouped together to form countless configurations of shapes and patterns, supported by an optional aluminum ganging system. The organic design, matched with a lightweight yet sturdy construction, allows River Snake to adapt to a wide range of uses in public spaces.

Manufactured from "Soft Touch Plus" polyurethane material, and reinforced with a steel internal sub-frame, this construction offers a cushioned yet supportive base, which is additionally weatherproof and flame retardant. As a result, River Snake can complement a diverse range of indoor and outdoor environments.

Available in 8 standard colors plus metallic silver, River Snake is also offered in custom colors, subject to minimum quantities.
