

The Award Winning Hardi Series Grows Its Offering

May 30, 2018

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Designed as a single-piece of rotationally molded polyethylene, Hardi armless Dining and Lounge launched last year to rave reviews for its worry-free support in Behavioral Health. Hardi now welcomes four new solutions, to ensure design continuity and breadth of line!

The Rocker has an inviting profile, and allows patients to self-soothe when needed. Lounge and Dining chairs with arms add versatility in cafeteria or TV rooms. Hardi Stool is the fitting addition to situations where needs change frequently.

Ensuring design continuity in a space, the new Hardi additions put patients and caregivers at ease and give facilities an opportunity to holistically specify behavioral health furniture requirements with confidence. Seating may be combined in style, or grouped by 6 inviting standard colors to create aesthetically dynamic areas in hard use applications.

Spec's Marketing Manager Dubravka Milinkovic adds that Hardi is finding its way into other applications: "Although it was designed with Behavioral Health in mind, Hardi has been used schools, police stations and other public service areas where ease of maintenance and durability are just as important".

All Hardi models are standard with CAL133, and can be weighted. Hardi Lounge and Dining with arms will be ready to ship September 1, while Rocker and Stool designs will be available to ship November 30, 2018.
