RT London launches new lounge solution, Turner

Grand Rapids, Mich. – RT London is excited to debut a new lounge solution, Turner this year at NeoCon.

Turner responds to changes in office environments trending toward more open spaces, which is influencing how universities are thinking about their campuses today. Visually sleek with a solid foundation, this collection emphasizes unique seating configurations that encourage collaboration and community while offering options to provide privacy with an array of smartly designed pieces.

The collection includes reconfigurable lounge, booth-like settings, freestanding and ganged tables, privacy screens and personal work surfaces that will fit existing spaces as it seamlessly transitions from one spatial function to the next – between structured to free flowing, from social to private, from standard to custom.

RT London is a major player in the Residence Hall furniture market. With over 400 college and university customers, RT London is designing and building products for the future. Expanding outside their core market, RT London is working with architects and designers to fulfill the needs of diverse commercial environments nationwide.

Turner will make its first appearance at Neocon 2017, floor 7, booth #8030 in June 2017 and will be available fall 2017.
